

The Democratic Platform.

We the Democrats of Kentucky, in convention assembled, do make the following declaration of principles:

First, we heartily endorse the platform enacted by the National Democratic Convention at Kansas City on July 14, 1900; also the speech delivered by said convention, and pledge the Democracy of Kentucky to an earnest, cordial and active support of said ticket.

The Democratic party has demonstrated that it has always been the champion and defender of the rights of the great common people; that it has ever insisted that the will of the majority shall control and that the minority must jealously guard its franchises.

It has always advocated honest elections. It has always advocated that all elections shall be carefully conducted and the result honestly ascertained.

We recommend that the election law of 1890 which was enacted to prevent the repetition of Republican frauds in certain districts of the State, and which was a marked improvement upon the then existing law, be made sufficient for that purpose, be amended so as to secure this end so thoroughly that the most hypocritical can find no excuse for charging us with unfitness to our party in the conduct of any election.

Until such amendment can be enacted by the General Assembly, we declare that the Republican party shall have representation in both the State and all county boards of election commissioners.

We present the people of Kentucky the picture of an army of infidels, unlawfully quartered in the public buildings of the State; a State Senator, while in the discharge of his duty to the State, stricken down by an assassin's bullet, fired from ambush from the Executive building, then occupied by his political adversary, who hoped to profit by his death; that adversary arming, filling and surrounding the building with armed men instructed to defy the civil authorities and prevent search for the assassin; the same political adversary, and Republican pretender by force dissolving the Legislature in violation of the Constitution; attempting by military power to force the Legislature to meet in a veritable shambles for the Democratic members; driving said members through the streets of Frankfort at the point of the bayonet; forcibly preventing the Legislature from meeting in its lawful and proper place; keeping said members and disorders men from going but giving them refuge in the city of Louisville, where they assassinated the assassin, a vicious scoundrel, with the scalps and scalps of their victims.
